

This is a detailed grayscale map of a residential neighborhood in San Antonio, Texas. The map features a dense network of streets, including major thoroughfares like Highway 35 (labeled with a shield) and Highway 280 (labeled with a shield). Numerous smaller streets are shown, many of which are named, such as Hillside Dr, El Prado, and various canyon roads. House numbers are printed throughout the map, indicating individual lots. Key landmarks include Mills Canyon Park, which is a large green space with winding paths, and Mills Creek, a water feature that flows through the area. The map also shows several smaller parks and open spaces. The overall layout is a mix of residential lots, some of which are quite large, and others that are smaller. The map is oriented with North at the top, and the streets are generally laid out in a grid-like pattern, though with some variations due to the terrain and the presence of the park and creek. The map is a high-resolution, detailed representation of the area, providing a clear view of the local infrastructure and geography.
